

Narratopia

Print and Play

You will need:

- a color printer (ink-jet or laser)
- ~25 pages of card stock
- ~60 pages of multipurpose (plain) paper
- something to cut paper with, such as:
 - a guillotine or rotary paper cutter
 - a sharp cutting blade, with ruler or straight edge
 - scissors

You might want, but don't need:

- a double-sided printer
- a corner cutter to round the card corners nicely
- 3 pages of glossy paper or full-page stick-on labels

About paper sizes:

For all of these files except one (the instructions), the printed elements are no larger than 8x10 inches (203x254 mm). Thus you can print the pages on US Letter Size paper or A4 paper without cutting anything off. The instructions are sized for US Letter Size paper, but your Adobe Acrobat Reader can scale the content to A4 with little distortion.

Cards card stock	Print one copy of Narratopia Connection Cards.pdf (14 pages) and one copy of Narratopia Question Cards.pdf (14 pages). If you have a double-sided printer, set it to “Long edge binding.” If you don’t have a double-sided printer, first print only the odd pages of each document. Then turn the paper over, put it back into the printer, and print the even pages. (Try this first with only pages 1 and 2 to make sure you have the turning right.) When your pages are printed on both sides, cut out your cards. Cut the cards on the front (text) side, because the cards on that side are a tiny bit smaller, and that way the cut lines won’t show on the card back. You can cut off the card corners with scissors or a corner cutter.
Forms plain paper	Print 45 copies of Narratopia Story forms.pdf (2 pages). (Or you may decide to print fewer forms at first, especially if you plan to play the game with fewer people.) Print the file double-sided (using the method described above with the cards), then cut out the individual forms. For the game forms, print three copies of the file Narratopia Game forms.pdf (2 pages), double-sided. Cut out the individual forms. You might want to staple your story and game forms into “notepads” that are easier to pass around. There is space for staples on the left side of the forms.
Tokens card stock	Print four copies of Narratopia Tokens.pdf (2 pages), double-sided. If you have a lot of patience and/or helpers, cut out the circle tokens with scissors. Otherwise, just cut squares around the circles and use the tokens that way.
Mats card stock	Print one copy of Narratopia Token mats.pdf (6 pages), double sided. Then cut out the square token bank and the six rectangular player mats.
Instructions plain paper	Print one copy of Narratopia Instructions.pdf (2 pages), single or double-sided.
Box plain paper, glossy paper, or full-page labels	Find a box big enough to hold the game’s components (at least 9x9x2 inches or 228x228x51 mm). Print one copy of Narratopia Box Labels.pdf (3 pages), single-sided. Cut out the two large panels (for the box top and bottom) and the four side panels (for the box sides). Then glue or tape or stick the printouts to the box.
